Complete and submit Request for Mitigation Form, following any advice given to you by your School.

Requests rejected as out of time. End of Procedure.

Request rejected, with reason(s) given. End of Procedure.

Following the Exam Board, the final decision on mitigation is communicated to you. End of Procedure.

Important: You should normally provide appropriate independent and time-specific evidence to support your mitigating circumstances form, preferably at the time of submitting the form or if not, as soon as possible afterwards. You should also comply with any additional requests made by your School. Students registered with DASS for a disability will not usually need to provide further evidence of the disability itself but may need to provide evidence of issues exacerbating it, if applicable.

Some points to bear in mind

- If you think mitigating circumstances might affect your academic performance, you should tell your School as soon as possible. Mitigating circumstances applications must be submitted by published deadlines. Your School will advise you of these.

- The University defines mitigating circumstances as ‘unforeseeable or unpreventable circumstances that could have, or did have, a significant adverse effect on the academic performance of a student.’ This might include significant illness or injury, or the death of a close family member, for example.

- Events that were planned or could reasonably have been expected, such as holidays or moving house, will not normally be regarded as grounds for mitigation.

- A mitigating circumstances application will never lead to individual assessment marks being changed, as examiners can only give marks for the work presented to them. However, it might lead to you being given a replacement attempt at an assessment, or an assessment mark being discounted from the calculation of an overall course unit mark, for example.
