Archival history	Recognising the importance of the event and how the media would cover it, Lou Kushnick collected the newspaper cuttings charting the murder and criminal case.
Administrative history	Stephen Lawrence was murdered while waiting for a bus on the 22 April 1993 in a racially motivated attack. Five suspects were identified but after a number of police failings it took almost 20 years for two of the suspects to be charged and convicted in 2012. The case highlighted not only the racism that existed in Britain but also the racism and failings that existed in the police force.
Scope and content	Newspaper cuttings and photocopies of articles relating to the murder and criminal case of Stephen Lawrence.
System of arrangement	In date order
Related material	Macpherson report
