

Course Outline: In-sessional Academic Writing (Science and Engineering)

The second half of this course runs in a block of four weeks during semester two. You can start the course in week 1 or week 5 - see the breakdown below. The blocks are identical so you only need to attend one block. The first three workshops aim to help you write the chapters of a typical dissertation. You will learn more about what is required in each chapter by reading and analysing extracts of academic texts. You will also have the chance to improve your language and writing by completing carefully-targeted practice activities. The final workshop focuses on your writing - you will submit your text to peer review from your classmates. Your tutor will tell you more about this when you start the course.

Semester 2

28 January 2019 to 22 March 2019

Workshop	University week	Week beginning	Session Focus/Activity
BLOCK 1 START DATE: WEEK 1
1	1	28 January 2019	Literature reviews
2	2	04 February 2019	Introductions and Conclusions
3	3	11 February 2019	Methods, Results and Discussions
4	4	18 February 2019	Peer review
BLOCK 2 START DATE: WEEK 5
1	5	25 February 2019	Literature reviews
2	6	04 March 2019	Introductions and Conclusions
3	7	11 March 2019	Methods, Results and Discussions
4	8	18 March 2019	Peer review