

ACADEMIC SUCCESS PROGRAMME WRITING YOUR DISSERTATION

LIVE WORKSHOPS

We offer four dissertation writing workshops and a bank of flexible learning material on the Academic Success Programme Blackboard community.

These are aimed primarily at Master's students but are of value to other students producing extended pieces of writing.

Each interactive live workshop lasts 90 minutes while the flexible learning can be done at your own pace.

Appreciate the relationship between language and meaning, and select from a range of language choices to make your writing more effective.

Showing your voice

Recognise voice and criticality in writing, and exploit features of language to show your voice in your dissertation.

Receiving and responding to feedback

Make the most of dissertation supervisions by becoming more aware of the language which can be used to make the feedback opportunity productive.

Writing camp

You'll work with a group of students to edit texts hands-on, and compare to our tutor's feedback.

FLEXIBLE LEARNING

1	Writing your introduction Model your introduction so that it frames your research project and shows its value.
2 nd 3	Writing your literature review (Parts 1 & 2) Structure your literature review to demonstrate criticality, and construct paragraphs which integrate your sources convincingly.
4	Writing your methods chapter Present a clear rationale for your chosen methods and describe them fully.
5	Writing your conclusion Highlight the contribution of your research to the field.
