

The University of Manchester Information Governance Office Records Retention Schedule

Introduction

This retention schedule describes the time periods for which records should be retained by the University in order to comply with operational and legal requirements, including data protection legislation.

The retention periods given in this document are taken largely from the JISC Record Retention Schedule which can be found at <http://bcs.jiscinfonet.ac.uk/he/default.asp>

Please note that the default action to be taken at the end of the retention period is the secure destruction or deletion of the record. Exceptions to this are where the retention period is described as “permanent” (i.e. the record will never be destroyed), or where “refer to archives” is mandated. In the latter instance the record should be offered to the University Archive Service for permanent retention before it is destroyed.

Only one copy of each record needs to be kept for the full length of the retention period. Duplicate and secondary copies should be destroyed as soon as they are no longer of immediate operational use.

A record is defined in the Records Management British Standard BS ISO 15489 as “Information created, received and maintained as evidence and information by an organization or person, in pursuance of legal obligations or in the transaction of business”. All records created and held by the University, both in paper and electronic form, and including data held in databases are subject to retention policies. Where a record contains personal data the retention periods stated in this schedule are mandatory requirements and must be followed unless a specific exception has been approved by the Information Governance Office. Entries marked with an * indicate a record that is likely to contain personal data, this may not be exhaustive.

Unstructured information systems

Email should not be used for storing University records. Emails that constitute a record which needs to be retained, including those containing personal data, must be stored in an appropriate filing system relevant to their confidentiality or criticality.

Shared drives or other unstructured information storage solutions (including cloud based storage) used to store any University record should be managed in accordance with this schedule, however where those records contain personal data the retention periods must be followed.

Structured systems storing personal data

All structured information management systems that store records containing personal data must be managed in accordance with this schedule. These systems must have a deletion or archival capability and where appropriate be able to identify a skeleton record (a subset of the original information) for continued retention.

General principles

University policy and strategy documents should be retained for 10 years or 5 years, depending on importance, and then referred to the University Archives for review.

Audits and reviews of performance against plans and strategies should be retained for 10 years or 5 years after the current academic year and then referred to the University Archives for review.

Contracts and customer service agreements should be retained for 6 years after the termination of the contract or agreement, and then referred to the University Archives for review.

Original financial records should generally be kept for 6 years after the current financial year to comply with the Limitation Act 1980 and HM Customs & Excise Notice 700/21: Keeping [VAT] records and accounts.

Contracts under seal and their related negotiation, establishment and review documents should be kept for 12 years after the termination of the contract and then referred to the University Archives for review.

Publications and promotional materials should be kept whilst current, and then 1 copy offered to the University Archives for review.

Notes:

- A The letter A in the notes column indicates that documents should be referred to the University Archives section of the University of Manchester Library for review before a final disposition action is taken (email james.peters@manchester.ac.uk). University records which have significant evidential or informational value may need to be retained permanently. These archival records are transferred to the University Archives at the point of disposition.
