

WHAT IS IT FOR?

The Research Administration Forum (RAF) has been created to support and encourage discussions and interaction between research administrators as well as a resource to share best practice across the campus

WHO IS IT FOR?

The RAF will be moderated by the Research Operations Team but the content will be driven by you, the research administrators at the University.

WHY USE IT?

Use the forum to ask questions, seek advice and provide support to each other.

Alert colleagues to future opportunities

Share your knowledge of individual funders

Ask colleagues which costs are eligible or ineligible

Keep up-to-date with EU funding

Navigate through research ethics and governance

Offer time saving tips to colleagues

Share best practice across all areas of research administration

Create a blog in your area of expertise

Offer to moderate a sub-space

THE FORUM

The screenshot shows the forum's main page. At the top, there's a navigation bar with a search box and user options for James Evans. Below this is a breadcrumb trail: Forums Home > Research Office > Research Administration Forum. The main heading is 'Research Administration Forum'. There are several tabs: Overview (customize), All Content (1), Discussions (0), Documents (1), and Blog Posts (0). A table lists sub-spaces with columns for Discussions, Views, and Last Post. To the right, there are sections for Actions (Start a discussion, Create a document, etc.), Notifications (Receive email notifications, View RSS feeds), Top Contributors (Fiona Wilson, Laura Short, Lisa McClare), and Popular Tags (logo manchester). At the bottom, there's a 'Discussions' section with a filter by tag groups option.

Sub-spaces	Discussions	Views	Last Post
Funding Opportunities	0	11
Funders	0	2
Finance	0	1
Good/Best Practice	0	1
Research Reporting	0	7
Policies & Procedures	0	0
Contracts/IP	0	15
Compliance, Ethics & Governance	0	0
EU	0	0
Professional & Personal Skills	0	6
Miscellaneous	1	20	