The View from The Shard Hotel Breaks

The View is a premium visitor experience situated at the top of The Shard, the tallest building in Western Europe. The Shard is London's newest landmark. At a height of 1,016ft (310m) The Shard redefines London's skyline and will be a dynamic symbol of the city, recognisable throughout the world.

The name 'Shard' comes from its sculpted design, which consists of glass facets that incline inwards but do not meet at the top, but instead open to the sky to allow the building to breathe naturally. Visitors will reach The View from The Shard through high-speed 'kaleidoscopic' lifts, which build anticipation, excitement and exhilaration.

Guests will arrive at Level 68 before ascending to The View on Level 69, a triple-height, light-filled main level where the view is revealed and London past, present and future is laid out before them and brought to life in multimedia displays and installations. Guests exit via a small boutique on Level 68 prior to descending in the lifts back through reception where they will have an opportunity to browse the main boutique as well as purchase a souvenir photograph.
