Bringing academic research to life through film

The Short Films, Big Impact project is all about bringing academic research to life through the medium of film. So, if you're passionate about making research matter to non-academic audiences, this showcase event offers the exclusive chance to see our first outputs focusing on work from the Centre on Dynamics of Ethnicity, the Manchester Institute of Education and the Human Resources Directorate.

Places are limited: RSVP mark.littler@manchester.ac.uk
