The first movement

FORWARD»»

in the direction you want to travel

Not so long ago, we took one of the most important and far reaching steps we've ever taken. Here's what we did and why you should know about it.

We've always believed in listening to what our clients have to say about their employees' health and wellbeing.

We've always known and understood that people are the biggest investment your company has. They are your future.

That's why everything we do at Nuffield Health is aimed at supporting and protecting your investment. Our Health Assessments focus on the early detection and diagnosis of disease together with the identification of health risks. Our integrated referral pathways ensure that treatment and care are quickly and conveniently available.

As the country's leading provider of corporate wellbeing solutions, we've learned how the health of your workforce can be improved and optimised to benefit both the individual and the organisation. We've also recognised how important technology is to the future of healthcare and to the health of your business. What we've learnt has shown us that the health and wellbeing of individuals needs to be monitored over a period of time, not just a point in time.

The result

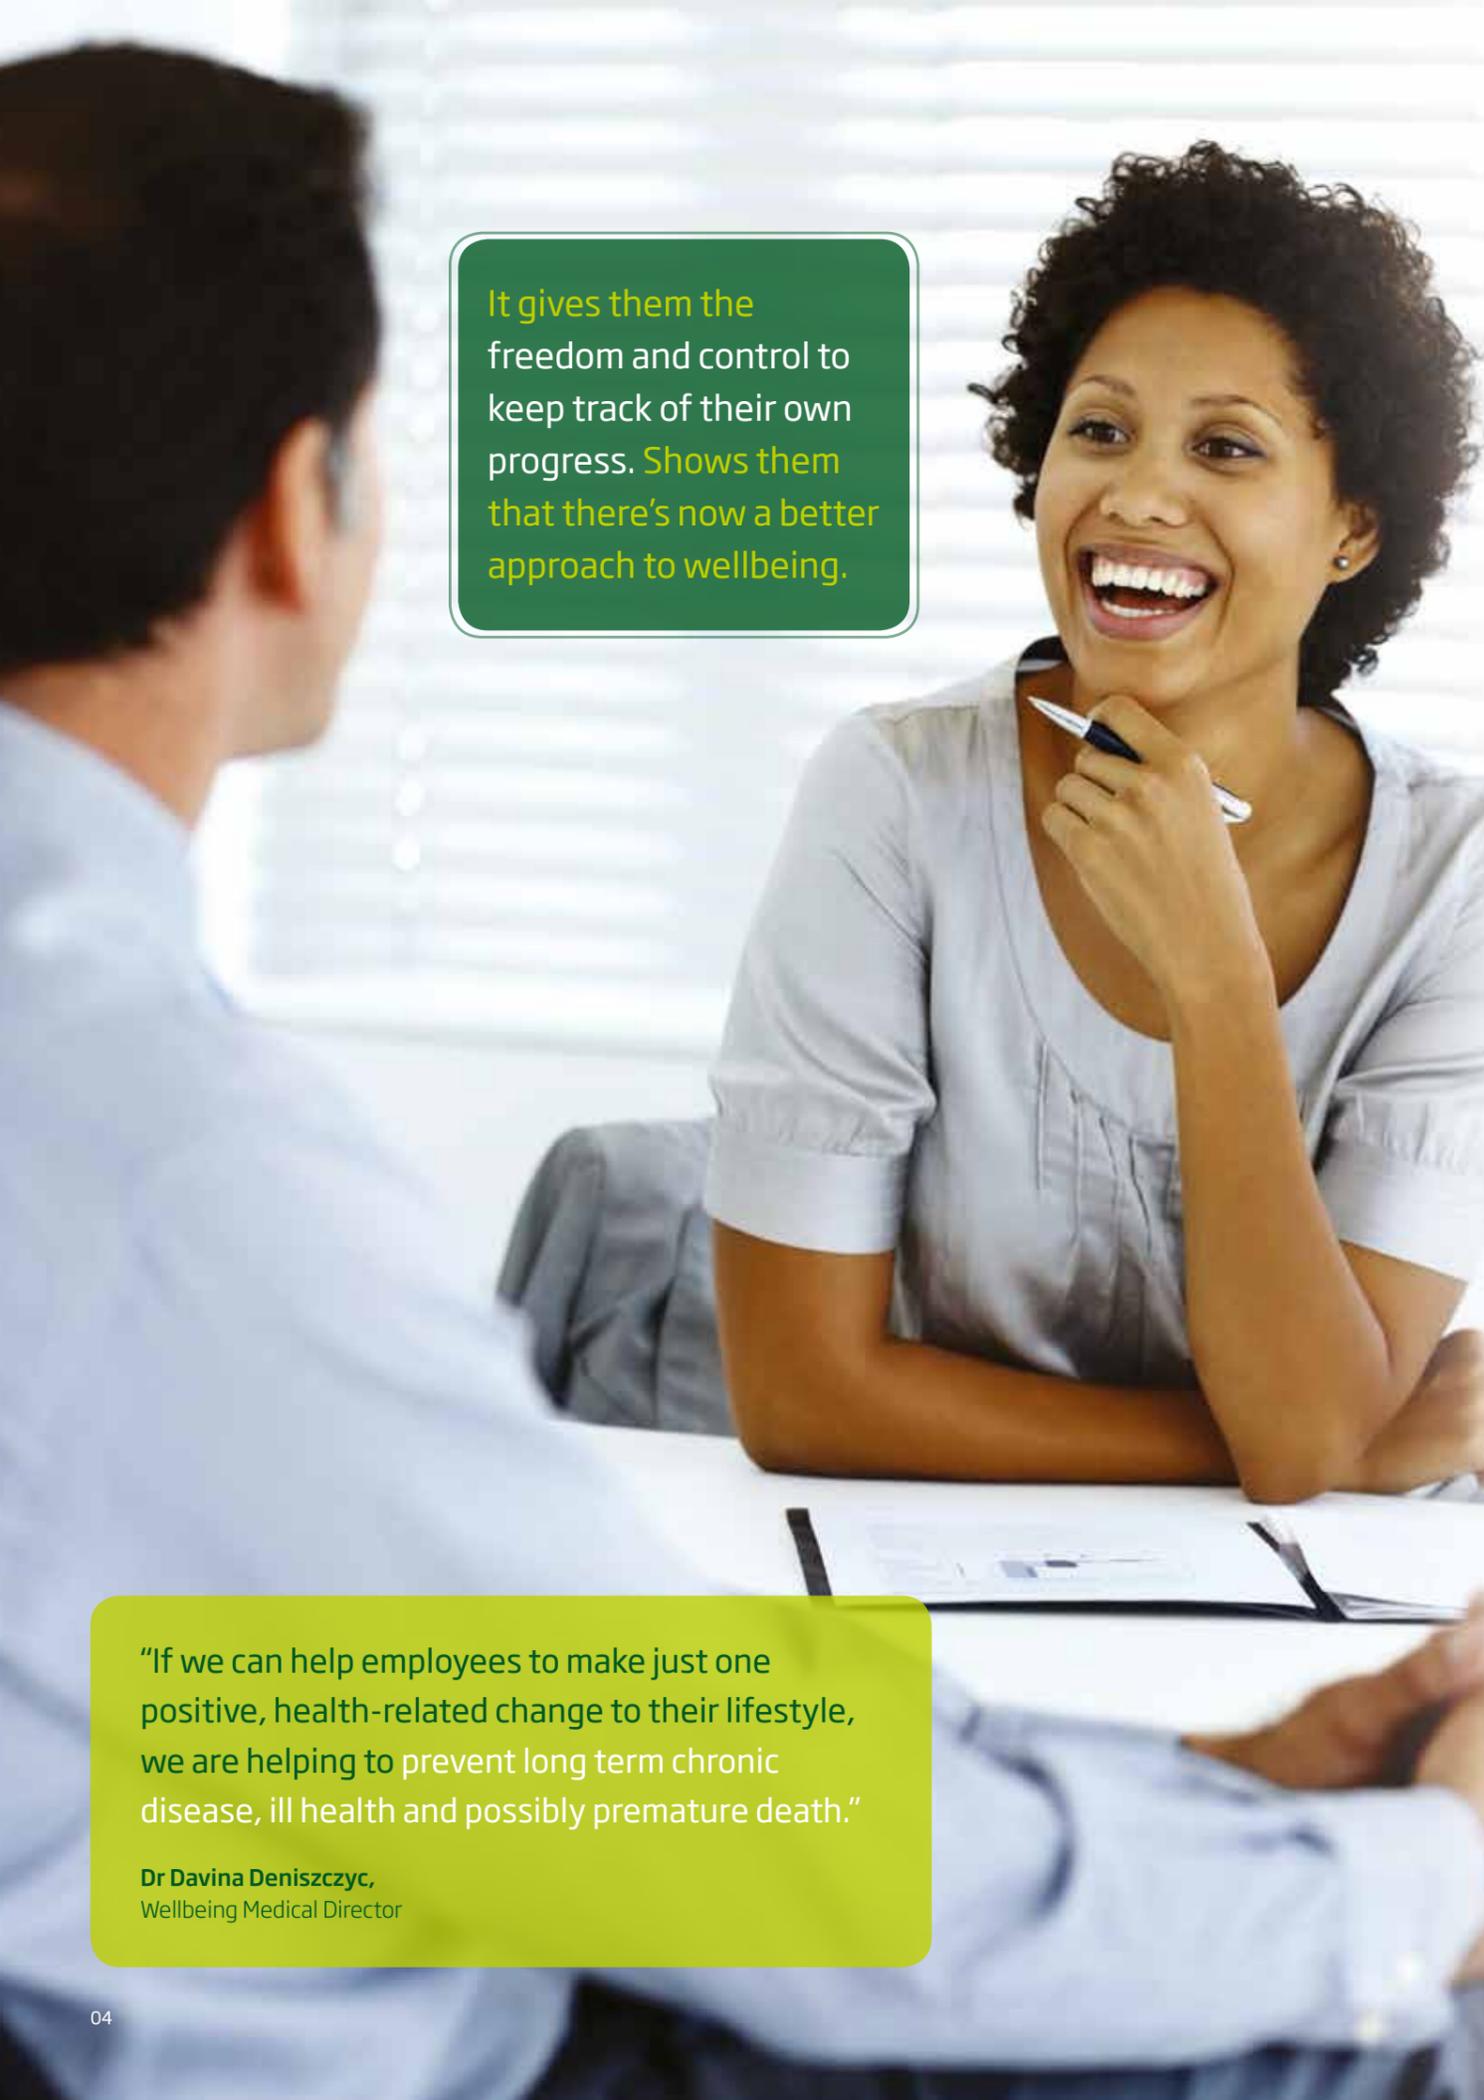

A new kind of Health Assessment which integrates our online health and wellbeing application, Nuffield HealthScore™ - allowing your employees to monitor their personal health and to track their progress towards their goals. Even when your employees have completed their initial assessment, it's only the beginning of their journey.

We've transformed our Health Assessment programme from being a single assessment to an ongoing process.

"Taking that first step to change things, especially when it concerns your health, can be daunting. But it can also be the most fundamentally rewarding move you can make."

Jonathan Byrd,
Director of Primary and Preventative Health

It gives them the freedom and control to keep track of their own progress. Shows them that there's now a better approach to wellbeing.

"If we can help employees to make just one positive, health-related change to their lifestyle, we are helping to prevent long term chronic disease, ill health and possibly premature death."
Dr Davina Deniszczyc,
Wellbeing Medical Director

We've listened and we've changed

Health is a JOURNEY

not just an assessment

Health Assessment

From the Lifestyle Health Assessment to our Executive Health Care Programme, we pioneered the use of physiologists in all our health assessments to ensure ever important lifestyle factors such as sleep, stress and nutrition are addressed as well as behavioural change and on-going support. The range of tests and advice available allow you to truly understand the health of your employees. We have also focussed on emotional wellbeing, productivity and perceived stress.

With you as you

PROGRESS

Good health isn't solely dependent on fitness. It's also related to physical and emotional wellbeing - and optimising all these elements is a journey.

That's why our care doesn't stop at the end of an assessment; the assessment is merely the beginning. It acts as the first step in mapping overall health and the identification of any issues. It's used to generate a tailored programme of advice and actions which will improve health as a whole.

Our Health Assessments are specifically tailored to address all relevant health and lifestyle factors. That's why we have a suite of different health solutions, so that your employees can participate in an assessment that's relevant to them and relevant to the factors affecting your business. The tests which form each assessment have been selected for their clinical appropriateness and are consistently reviewed.

Our assessments begin with an initial questionnaire which focuses on the current health of your employee - how they sleep, what their stress levels are, their health concerns - it also draws in medical history for the individual and their family to paint a complete picture of their wellbeing, including possible risks. This allows us to understand how involved we need to be in each individual's wellbeing strategy. It also allows us to see just how healthy and productive your people are.

MONITOR

your Health & Wellbeing, anytime, anywhere

What is HealthScore?

At Nuffield Health we've always known how important information is. The less we know about our wellbeing, the less effective and the more time consuming our improvement from illness will be. The more we know the better that improvement process will be.

Nuffield HealthScore™ is an online and mobile fitness and lifestyle tool that combines the expert knowledge about fitness and wellbeing with the latest smart technology. With it, employees can monitor their health and progress any time, anywhere. HealthScore considers all aspects of an individual's health and tracks their progress in real time via smart phone, tablet, desktop or laptop, with data available directly from the Nuffield HealthScore™ website.

Nuffield HealthScore™ generates a score between 1- 1,000 and is driven by 6 key components: Exercise Activity, Nutrition Coach, Step Counter, Body Composition, Sleep Monitor and Stress Manager. Each component has its own score, which will increase if a positive change has been tracked but will also decrease if positive behaviours are not maintained. Behaviour change for each component can be tracked manually or by connecting with selected compatible devices, including heart rate monitors, pedometers, electronic scales and GPS activity trackers. With your employees consent, their Health Professional is able to view their exercise activity history, view their achievements, send them messages and comment on their exercise activity to keep them on track.

Freedom to access information about health and wellbeing should be a given. Not an option.
