

Deciding whether to go to university or college is a big decision for anyone. If you're a care leaver, you've probably also got worries about the cost, what support you could get and where you would live out of term-time.

That's why we've created Propel, an exciting new website giving you information about what universities and colleges across the UK offer to students leaving care. Find out:

- whether 365 day accommodation is available
- what bursaries and grants are on offer
- the help and support care leavers can expect
- named contacts to get in touch with

There's also loads of other useful info, like an overview of student funding, top tips and inspirational stories from care-experienced students.

Think higher education's not for you? Think again.
