DEGREE CONGREGATIONS

July 2016

in the Whitworth Hall

A portrait of Nancy Rothwell, a woman with short, light blonde hair, looking slightly to her right with a thoughtful expression. She is wearing a black and white horizontally striped blazer over a black top with a red belt. The background is a soft-focus green foliage.

“Use your head,
but follow your heart.”

Nancy Rothwell

Congratulations

from the President and Vice-Chancellor

I welcome you all – graduands, family members and friends – to The University of Manchester for this degree congregation.

This is a time of celebration and I hope you enjoy this special occasion.

For those of you graduating today, this is also a perfect time to reflect on your time here at Manchester, to think about your successes, achievements and the excitement of the next stage of your journey. As you are presented for conferment of your degree, the University shares with you a great sense of pride in the award you have worked so hard to attain.

I encourage you to take charge of your future, find your voice and form your own opinions. Have confidence in the knowledge and experience you have gained during your time here and, as you collect your degree, know you are ready to take on your next challenge and shape your own future.

These ceremonies mark not the end of your relationship with the University but the start of a new chapter. You are now part of a worldwide network and it is my hope that the links between you and the University will grow stronger as you become an active member of one of the largest global alumni communities.

I wish you every success for the future and hope that you have a truly memorable day.

Professor Dame Nancy Rothwell

Highlights

2015-16 was an eventful year for the University. Here are some of the highlights that made news.

World's first bionic eye transplant

Manchester Professor Paulo Stanga conducted the world's first bionic transplant in July 2015. The four hour operation implanted a device to convert video images from a miniature camera installed in his glasses.

Germ trap technology could protect us against the flu

In March 2016 The University of Manchester and scientists at biotech company Virustatic developed a fabric coating which isolates viruses responsible for seasonal and pandemic influenza.

According to the team, the 'germ trap' has a capture rate for the virus - which affects millions of people across the world, sometimes severely - of greater than 99%.

The germ trap - which can be added to filters in masks or air filtration systems - is completely harmless and cheap to produce.

Lemn Sissay becomes Chancellor in 2015

Writer and broadcaster Lemn Sissay MBE was elected as the next Chancellor of The University of Manchester. An award-winning poet, he's also the author of articles, records, radio documentaries and public art.

MBS becomes Alliance MBS; precinct bridge demolished in August

The iconic precinct bridge was demolished in August 2015. The 46-year-old bridge was taken down as part of a project to make room for improved student and staff facilities, and to provide 40,500 sq ft of new retail and leisure facilities for the new Alliance MBS.

Whitworth wins VisitEngland award

The University of Manchester's Whitworth won gold at the VisitEngland Awards for Excellence in the large visitor attraction category in March 2016

The 'gallery in the park' – which reopened in March after a £15 million transformation– beat a range of renowned competitors such as Chester Zoo, SS Great Britain and Salisbury Cathedral. The largest renovation in its 125-year history, which doubled its former size, with a new glass wing overlooking Whitworth Park resulted in record-breaking visitor figures.

Jodrell Bank part of BBC broadcast as Tim Peake becomes first Briton to walk in space

A historic milestone in British space exploration was shared by experts and guests at The University of Manchester's Jodrell Bank as part of a planned special BBC broadcast.

Tim Peake carried out the first ever spacewalk by a British astronaut on Friday 16 January 2016 to venture outside the International Space Station to replace a failed voltage regulator.

Outstanding Alumni Awards

The Outstanding Alumni Awards are presented to former students who have achieved particular distinction in their field, or who have demonstrated exemplary service to the University or wider community.

Imran Hakim BSc (Hons) Optometry and Vision Sciences 1999

He started in business aged just 15, thanks to a £2,000 loan from his father, and went on to become one of the biggest success stories from the BBC's Dragon's Den programme: in 2007 his award-winning iTeddy secured a worldwide distribution deal covering 45 different countries.

Imran graduated from the University of Manchester in 1999 with a BSc (Hons) Optometry and Vision Sciences, but his years in higher education were not solely dedicated to study: he continued to juggle the demands of building his business empire while completing his degree.

After graduating, his entrepreneurial spirit led him to open an opticians in Bolton, quickly followed by a locum recruitment company. Since then, he has built a portfolio of businesses, including a chain of optical retail practices, lens laboratory, spectacle frame distribution and interior optical shop-fitters.

The Hakim Group is now the strongest independent optical group in the UK, and is the largest optical group outside of the industry's 'big four'.

Imran now concentrates on expanding his business portfolio by investing in other companies, and uses mentoring and ambassadorial roles to encourage the next generation of entrepreneurs.

His energy and dedication has seen him win numerous business awards, including a Mosaic Award for Science and Technology from HRH Prince of Wales. He has also been a Director of Entrepreneurship at The University of Manchester Intellectual Property (UMIP) division, helping to turn world-leading research into world-leading companies, products and services.

Deborah Cohen MBE

MSc Liberal Studies in Science 1979

As the BBC's Radio Science Editor, Deborah Cohen, MBE is responsible for communicating science – in all its forms – to a wider audience and maintaining the organisation's editorial standards in its science output. It is a role that undoubtedly shapes national discussions about science and its latest advances.

Following her graduation from The University of Manchester in 1979 with an MSc in Liberal Studies in Science, Deborah joined the BBC as a researcher in the science department. She spent the next decade producing content for Radio 3 and Radio 4 that covered a range of subjects in science, technology and medicine.

She became Science Editor for the BBC's domestic radio output in 1990, and 10 years later took on editorial responsibility for the science unit of BBC World Service.

During her professional life, Deborah has covered huge stories, including the appearance of AIDS and the development of drugs to keep the disease at bay, BSE, stem cell research, genetically modified crops, climate change, and cosmology. While she says that scientists have got better at communicating, she acknowledges that they still have to work hard to get across the ideas. Her years of experience ensure the BBC continues to excel in doing exactly that.

Deborah has been a judge of the Rhone Poulenc Book Prize and a member of the COPUS committee, which awards grants for the public understanding of science. She has also been a judge on schemes that reward translating scientific and medical ideas into lay terms, such as the Royal Society Science Book Prize and the Society for Chemical Industry's essay competition.

She was made an MBE for services to broadcasting and science in 2009.

Alison Nimmo CBE

BA (Hons) in Town and Country Planning 1985

Alison Nimmo CBE has devoted her professional life to regeneration. As Chief Executive of The Crown Estate, she controls assets worth £11.5 billion, including much of London's prime real estate. But her career began in Manchester, where she graduated with a BA (Hons) Town and Country Planning in 1985.

After graduation, she spent time in Australia's Department for Planning and Transportation, before returning to the UK in 1986 to become a planner at Westminster City Council. A move to the private sector followed, first working as a chartered surveyor and then as a consultant for KPMG.

Eleven years after graduating, Alison found herself back in Manchester as Project Director of Manchester Millennium, leading the hugely successful regeneration of the city centre after the IRA bomb in 1996. She then moved to Sheffield, delivering another award-winning transformation of a major northern city centre.

From 2003 to 2012, Alison's focus was the London 2012 Olympic Games. She was an integral part of the original bid team that succeeded in bringing the games to London, and then from 2006 she was Director of Design and Regeneration for the Olympic Delivery Authority. She was appointed as CEO of The Crown Estate in January 2012, the first woman ever to hold the post.

Alison was made a CBE for services to urban regeneration in 2004, and in 2014 she was awarded the prestigious Royal Town Planning Institute Gold Medal for services to planning. She has also been recognised by Radio Four, the Evening Standard, and ranked number one in Property Week's list of the 100 Most Influential Women in Property. Alison is a trustee of the UK Green Building Council and a board member of FTSE 100 housebuilder The Berkeley Group.

Outstanding Academic Achievement Awards

The University of Manchester Award for Outstanding Academic Achievement is awarded to the top students in each graduating year based solely on academic performance and consists of a certificate presented at graduation and a cheque for £1,000.

The prestigious award reflects the exceptional performance of the individual graduates during their time at The University of Manchester.

- respect patients' dignity and privacy;
- listen to patients and respect their views;
- give patients information in a way they can understand;
- respect the right of patients to be fully involved in decisions about their care;
- keep my professional knowledge and skills up to date;
- recognise the limits of my professional competence;

In all these matters I will never discriminate unfairly against my patients or colleagues. I will always be prepared to justify my actions to them."

You're now a member of our alumni community

At Manchester we're proud to have the largest global alumni community of any campus-based university in the UK, with many of the 330,000 graduates we are in contact with holding top positions in every imaginable field.

We're here to help you maintain a lifelong connection with us and with each other, share experiences and expertise and enjoy alumni-exclusive offers, events, networking and volunteering opportunities.

E-resources

Discounted or free access to e-resources through services including JSTOR will prove invaluable to you in terms of personal research and professional development. Visit your.manchester.ac.uk to access a wide range of journals for further study and research.

Inspire the next generation

Your expertise and guidance can help inspire the next generation of graduates. Whether you mentor a student, come back to campus to talk about your career, or complete a survey about your experiences since graduation, you can help our current students from wherever you are in the world.

Discounts

Your Manchester Extras gives University of Manchester discounts on travel, magazine subscriptions and a range of other services on campus and beyond – including a huge 30% off all Manchester University Press books.

International

International alumni groups are a great way to keep building professional and social networks with fellow Manchester graduates in your region and keep in touch with The University of Manchester. Visit your.manchester.ac.uk to find your nearest alumni coordinator, and use <http://lnkd.in/egUFysq> to add your Manchester degree to your LinkedIn profile.

The start of your career

Over the coming years, you and today's other graduates will make those first steps towards shaping your own future, with endless possibilities to imagine and opportunities to explore.

You could be working in jobs that don't yet exist, mastering skills you don't know you're capable of, solving 'unsolvable' problems and developing products and services we don't yet know we need.

So how can we help you prepare for your future?

We're here to help

The first thing you need to know is that we're with you every step of the way. As a University of Manchester graduate, for the next two years, you have full access to the resources and expertise of the Careers Service. That means you have access to a wealth of information, advice, and one-to-one support with experienced professionals.

You also have personal access to thousands of job vacancies, training schemes, volunteering opportunities and graduate internships – all of which you can access via the Careers Service's website: www.manchester.ac.uk/careers/services

Help us help you

In the next few months we'll be contacting you to find what you have gone on to do after leaving University and whether we can be of further assistance. You'll be invited to complete a survey (the Destination of Leavers from Higher Education Survey) that will help us find out more about what our students do in the first few months after leaving University.

UNIVERSITY OF MANCHESTER

There has never been a more exciting time to graduate from The University of Manchester. Here's our five point checklist:

1 Build connections

It's a connected world, and contacts – who you know and who knows you – are the currency of the 21st century. Manchester is the UK's top LinkedIn University, with nearly 200,000 alumni ready to connect with you. If you haven't got a LinkedIn profile, what are you waiting for?

2 Explore

Even if you're about to enter a job or career that you've planned for, over the coming years, don't stop exploring opportunities, keep exploring your options, checking out new leads, asking yourself, "Am I where I want to be, doing what I really want to do?" As the saying goes, do a job you love and you'll never have to work a day in your life.

3 Experience

In all jobs, work experience is crucial – volunteer (carefully) for new projects, take on additional responsibilities, try out new roles. Experience allows you to find out more about new opportunities and, best of all, discover new things about yourself.

4 Communicate

Let people know about what you're doing and what you've achieved. Take every opportunity to practice your presentation skills.

5 Bounce back

When it comes to jobs, everyone has setbacks – without them, how else would you enjoy success? Don't take it personally. What matters isn't what's gone wrong but how you respond to it. Never give up!

Emergency evacuation procedure for Whitworth Hall

During the course of this event no alarm test or an emergency evacuation practice has been planned.

Therefore, if the alarm, which sounds intermittently is activated it should be treated as a potential incident requiring evacuation.

Graduands and Guests are asked to remain calm and seated and follow the instructions given by stewarding staff.

The Assembly point is on the front quadrangle which is adjacent to the Whitworth Hall in front of the John Owens Building.
