Important note for individual who transports equipment out of the UK

Certain goods, equipment, technology, including software on computers/laptops, may be subjected to export control. Before removing or transferring any equipment and technology outside the UK, individuals should use an online checker tool to establish whether their equipment is controlled and requires an export control licence.

<https://www.gov.uk/government/organisations/export-control-organisation>

It is the responsibility of individuals to check and confirm the compliance of export control. Failure to comply is a criminal offence.

For advice and further information, please contact the University's Export Control Compliance Team at ecc@manchester.ac.uk.

The University's Marine Transit Insurance provides cover for physical loss or damage to goods in the ordinary course of transit, including:-

- (1) Movement of University owned equipment to and from University buildings used in fieldtrips, research projects, exhibitions or equipment sent away for repair, including temporary storage at its destination for up to 3 months
- (2) Movement of University owned equipment between University buildings
- (3) One-way journey of University owned equipment which is newly acquired or permanently removed for which the University is responsible
- (4) Non-University owned equipment which the University is responsible for insuring the item (as stated in contract agreement) whilst being transported to and from the University. If there is no contract agreement, there must be a written confirmation from the third party, and was agreed by the School, that the University is responsible for the insurance of the equipment whilst it is in the University's custody and control.

All goods must be packed and stored using appropriate methods having regard for the nature of the goods involved and the method of transport.

[Note: property of others that is not transported at the University's risk is not covered by the policy. If you are uncertain about whether or not any property that you are moving is covered by the University Marine Transit Insurance, please contact the Insurance Office (insurance@manchester.ac.uk).]

Arranging Marine Transit Insurance

- (1) Insurance is in place for the transits of property meeting the specification of cover detailed as above without charge to the user.

Schools/Units must keep a good record of all transits, including the dates/period of trips, destinations, estimated value of equipment being covered, and so on. Schools and Units will need to advise the Insurance Office of any equipment being moved under the automatic cover by sending a transit record sheet to the Insurance Office.

You must submit a transit record sheet to the Insurance Office at Insurance@manchester.ac.uk before departure. Failure to do so, your items may not be covered.

Please contact the Insurance Office for an electronic copy of transit record sheet.

- (2) For property not meeting the specification of cover, please contact the Insurance Office if marine transit cover is required. Please provide full details of the property to be moved, destination, reinstatement cost of the property, method of conveyance and packaging, and use at the destination. Insurance cover in these cases will be subject to prior agreement with the insurer and may take up to 10 days to arrange (possibly longer in complex cases). Users will be asked for an account code to cover for any additional costs involved in providing this cover.

Preparation for Transportation

- Before packing, make sure that the equipment is in good working order. Users must keep evidence or record of such.
- Take photographic evidence of the equipment being packed safely and securely (by users or by professionals/external service providers) at each stage of the packing process.
- If there is any sign of physical damage to the external package, take photographic evidence of the damage before unpacking it.
- Keep good records, including copies of carriers' documentation, evidence of posting and so on until the property is safely returned back to the University premises.
- Fully test the equipment as soon as possible after the journey and keep records of any damage or issue found.

It is a requirement of all insurance policies that good risk management is practiced. In the event of a claim on the policy, the claims investigators may take a view that risk management was so poor that cover no longer applies, in which case the claim would be regarded as unacceptable. Therefore, it is important that Schools conduct full health & safety and risk assessments and are responsible for mitigating any risk involved.

One of the main factors affecting insurance premium costs is the level of claims against the policy. Therefore, it is in the interest of the University that the insurer uses their legal right to recover any claim costs paid to the University from a negligence third party. Any evidence gained which may assist in proving third party negligence is vital, and Schools are asked to provide as much help as possible in this respect.

Claims Notification

1. Losses or damage to goods must be reported to the carrier (unless using University transport) and an acknowledgement should be obtained.
2. Incidents of suspected theft or malicious damage must be reported to the Police. They will provide a crime reference number that the insurers will require to proceed with the claim.
3. If the damage is caused by a third party, such as external courier, the responsible person (i.e. the person who has a signed contract with the third party) must write to them as soon as possible (within 5 working days from the day of incident) to confirm the incident holding them liable for the damage caused and request their response in writing.
4. All losses or damage to goods, which may result in a claim against the University policy, immediate notice must be given to the Insurer and the Insurance Office at the earliest opportunity.
