Introduction

As stated in the University's Environmental Sustainability Strategy, engagement is central to our environmental sustainability activity. It is how we share ideas, knowledge and research, inspire discussion, debate and creativity, and listen to and work in partnership with our staff, students, external communities and Cultural Institutions to achieve our sustainability commitments. As global environmental sustainability challenges continue to grow we will tailor our engagement approaches to support and empower those who can create the greatest change. We recognise the need for innovation, leadership, diversity, and collaboration and will adapt our systems and processes to further enhance our sustainability impact. Our engagement objective is to provide opportunities for our staff, students and external partners to engage with sustainability and take meaningful action, personally and professionally.

Commitments:
• Foster engagement specific to the core ambitions of the strategy.
• Provide staff with the skills and techniques to embed environmental sustainability into plans, policies, processes and everyday activities that are recognised and valued within the institution.
• Support the embedding of sustainability within teaching and learning by taking a partnership approach with our students and communities.
• Collaborate to maximise our research impact to sustainability.
• Focus on sustainability leadership with sustainability built into University training.
• Support leaders and managers, enabling them to learn the skills and confidence to take sustainability action.
• Develop and agree strategic partnerships to engage our communities to support proven natural solutions to capture carbon, restore the natural world and enhance environmental sustainability.

Engagement is tracked through feedback and data from engagement programme, events, website and social media.
