

Training Continuum

Pre-PhD

Our postgraduate taught training aims to equip clinical professionals and students with the skills and competencies required for research, teaching and learning methods and employability.

PhD

Our postgraduate researcher training aims to equip students with the skills, competencies and subject-specific training necessary to excel and successfully complete the research programme.

Research Staff

Provides intermediate level training to maximise research outputs, employability and the development of independent research careers.

Academic Staff

Flexible training to support academic staff with the skills they need to carry out research and teaching and learning duties at the highest level.

Leadership

Provides training and development opportunities to support staff through the different stages of an academic career through promotions support as well as mentoring and coaching.
