Our important plants

Can you find them in the Art Garden?

Bluebells

Bluebell sap is sticky and was used in medieval times to attach feathers to arrows. Bluebells can also be used in medicines, but you must not eat them!

Geranium

However, the leaves and petals of scented geraniums are edible. What do they smell like? Can you touch their leaves gently? What do they feel like?

Mint and Thyme

Mint and thyme are both herbs. They can be used in cooking, medicine and are even used in perfumes.

Did you know that the Ancient Greeks believed that thyme was the source of courage? And the Ancient Egyptians used thyme when making mummies!

---

Your important plants

Which plants are your favourites? Can you tell us why? And can you draw them?

---

Follow us for more information

Facebook: facebook.com/thewhitworth

Instagram: @whitworthart

Twitter: @whitworthart

#WhitworthFamilies

The Whitworth

The University of Manchester

Oxford Road, Manchester M15 6ER

manchester.ac.uk/whitworth

---

Proud to be part of

The University of Manchester

The Whitworth

Please recycle responsibly

Illustrations © Melanie Smith @smithandwander.com