WELCOME TO THE SCHOOL OF ARTS, LANGUAGES AND CULTURES

WELCOME FROM THE HEAD OF THE SCHOOL OF ARTS, LANGUAGES AND CULTURES

Welcome to the School of Arts, Languages and Cultures (SALC) at the University of Manchester! You are now part of a School that brings together world-leading research and outstanding teaching in a dedicated and diverse staff team. The Arts are an essential part of the University's mission and at the forefront of its international reputation. Attracting the best talent, the School aims to provide our students with a learning experience of the highest quality, taught and guided by inspiring academics using state-of-the-art resources, making our graduates highly sought after by employers.

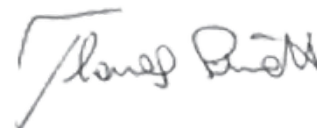

Social responsibility and public engagement is embedded in everything we do in the School. We seek to create and develop knowledge that makes a difference both to those researching and studying in the University and in the wider world. Our course offering in the fields of arts, languages, and cultures is amongst the broadest and most diverse of any UK university, and we are committed to inter- and multi-disciplinarity at all levels of study and research. All students have the chance to take course units from across the School, and I would urge you to make the most of this exciting breadth of opportunity during your time with us.

Our research, recently recognised as world-leading in the UK's "Research Excellence Framework (REF), is underpinned by the recently established Creative Manchester platform which brings together staff and projects from across the university, and by two major research institutes: the John Rylands Research Institute and Library (JRRIL) which makes use of the rich resources of the historic John Rylands Library on Deansgate, and the Humanitarian and Conflict Response Institute (HCRI) focusing on humanitarianism, conflict responses, global health, international disaster management and peacebuilding.

This is in addition to several other centres including the Centre for Jewish Studies, the Centre for New Writing and the Institute for Cultural Practices (ICP), all of them combining rigorous research with a strong focus on external engagement, working with partners in the health, policy, heritage, cultural and business sectors.

The School is home to over 5,500 undergraduates and postgraduates, and it employs over 350 academic staff, 40 postdoctoral research fellows, research associates and research assistants, as well as a large cohort of teaching assistants, all supported by a large team of professional support services staff. Teaching and research in the School are supported by rich resources within the University, for example the collections of the University of Manchester Library (including the world-famous John Rylands Library in the city centre), the Ahmed Iqbal Ullah Race Relations Resource Centre, the Manchester Museum and the Whitworth Art Gallery, as well as in other distinguished Manchester archives and museums. The School also operates its own cultural assets such as The Martin Harris Centre for Music and Drama, and partners with the Confucius Institute. Outside the University, we have excellent links with a range of cultural partners such as HOME, The Royal Exchange, Contact and Library theatres, the Hallé Orchestra, the Instituto Cervantes, the Alliance Française, and the Società Dante Alighieri.

This guide has been written for you in conjunction with current students to help you navigate through your first year and beyond. I hope you find it useful, and once more, welcome to Manchester!

Professor Thomas Schmidt
Head of School

WELCOME TO HISTORY

Dear Student,

I am writing to congratulate you and extend a warm welcome from everyone at the in the Department of History here at the University of Manchester. Whether you're travelling from across the globe or just down the road we are looking forward to receiving you on campus and helping you to explore one the world's leading universities in one of its most exciting cities. We're also looking forward to seeing the work you'll produce in the coming years.

Over the next few weeks, we will be posting information on our Welcome Week website; this will include your Welcome Week timetable. We will also send you information via email, so please regularly check your university email account once set up. You can find our Welcome Week website at: www.welcome.manchester.ac.uk

You will be introduced to your Programme Director, Dr Pete O'Connor, at your first Welcome meeting at the beginning of Welcome Week. Your Programme Director is also a lecturer in history and may therefore also teach you during your studies. To keep up to date with the History Department and what we're up to over the summer and into the next academic year, find us on:

Once again, congratulations, and we hope you will get a well-deserved rest before starting University. We're very much looking forward to meeting you in September.

A MESSAGE FROM YOUR ADMINISTRATORS

HIST10101 (History in Practice) is a required course unit on all History Programmes, and we'll enrol you in both a lecture and in a seminar for this module. You will not be able to swap this seminar group, as it is chosen based on your academic advisor allocation.

Those of you studying Politics and Modern History or History and Sociology will have several other core course units on which you will be automatically enrolled. You will, however, have to use the selection guides to enrol in a specific seminar group. In the case of History and Economics, you will have two core History course units as well as three compulsory Economics units. For languages joint honours programmes, you'll be automatically enrolled by us in the relevant compulsory units and your seminars will be allocated to you by the administrators in your language department. If these seminars present problems, please let us know.

Enrolling on optional modules is your choice and responsibility. Please endeavour to follow your programme structure and the course unit selection guides to select the lecture and seminar activities for your desired modules.

In History, all optional units (HIST-coded) feature two weekly lectures (both lasting an hour) and one weekly seminar (lasting an hour).

DISABILITY ADVISORY AND SUPPORT SERVICE (DASS)

Over 15% of students at the University of Manchester have shared that they are disabled. The Disability Advisory and Support Service \(DASS\) is a service dedicated to supporting disabled applicants and students – and can support with the following:

- Academic support such as access to lecture podcasts, automatic extensions on coursework, general awareness for tutors and specific timetabling.
- Exam support such as extra time, rest breaks, specialist equipment and specific locations.
- Library support such as individual library inductions and extensions on high demand loans.
- Accommodation support such as room adaptations, specific equipment and specific locations.
- Mentoring and study skills support.
- Notetaking and practical support.
- Navigating external funding such as the Disabled Students Allowance (DSA).

How do I get support from DASS?

To Register with DASS you need to fill in a quick online registration form and send in some evidence of your disability (the easiest way to do this is by taking a photo of your evidence and emailing to dass@manchester.ac.uk). Once registered a DASS adviser will meet with you to explore support (both University based support and externally funded support).

If you do not have any existing evidence or would like to speak with an adviser before registering, please contact the DASS reception to book a Quick Query appointment

If you suspect you may have a Specific Learning Difficulty, such as Dyslexia, but have not been tested before, please book onto the Do I have dyslexia workshop – for more information on what a specific learning difficulty is, the support already available to you and how to progress an assessment.

How do I get in touch with DASS?

DASS are based on the second floor of University Place on Oxford Road and are open Monday to Friday, 10am to 4pm. Further information on contacting DASS can be found here.

UNIVERSITY LANGUAGE CENTRE LEAP PROGRAMME

LEAP stands for the Language Experience for all Programme, which is part of the School of Arts, Languages and Cultures. This programme offers students the opportunity to study a language course alongside their degree.

LEAP offers 14 languages you can choose from at different levels. Therefore, whether you are an absolute beginner or a holder of a GCSE or A-Level in a certain language, you will be able to find a language that suits you. Students can study these courses for credit as part of their degree or choose to take them as non-credit for a fee. These language courses are also open to members of the public and University staff for a fee.

Apart from the choices that LEAP offers, the wonderful thing about the programme is that at the end of your degree you may have also obtained a level in some languages amounting to a C1.

Learning a new language provides access to diverse sources of knowledge, enhances professional opportunities and gives you better chances of employability. It enables you to create a unique blend of knowledge, experience and transferable skills to suit your needs.

As languages facilitate cross-cultural communication and understanding, learning them will foster critical thinking, empathy and adaptability. Learning languages enriches lives, bridging gaps between diverse communities and fostering a more inclusive and cohesive world.

So, what are you waiting for? Enrich your experiences and LEAP into languages!

Taking a LEAP language course for credit is subject to academic approval, entry requirements, language level test, availability and timetabling constraints. Therefore, you need to check this with your school first. To know more about LEAP, visit: University Language Centre: Language Experience for All Programme \(LEAP\) courses

THE CAREERS SERVICE

Our award-winning Careers Service offers you support and advice throughout your time at university, and for up to two years after completing your course. No matter where you're up to with finding a part-time job to go alongside your studies, or thinking about potential post-university careers, we're here to help you make the most of your time in Manchester. We offer a range of personalised support and services including:

- One-to-one careers appointments
- Job, placements and internships vacancies board
- CV and applications advice
- Pathways (our on-demand learning modules)
 - Interview preparation
- Careers fairs and employer events
 - Skills workshops
- Networking opportunities with UoM graduates
 - Exclusive internship opportunities

We also have our website (www.careers.manchester.ac.uk), which is an encyclopaedia of careers information! It includes our 'Which Career' pages, which will support you in exploring the range of exciting career opportunities open to you as a SALC student. These pages give an overview of over 20 career sectors, including tips on using your time in Manchester to build skills and experience relevant to those areas.

How to get the most out of the Careers Service

1. Before coming to Manchester, follow us on Instagram (@uomcareers) to keep up with the latest events, resources and support available to you.
2. Once you've completed your university registration, activate your CareerConnect account (www.careerconnect.manchester.ac.uk)

CareerConnect is your one-stop-shop for all things careers; you can use it to register for our events, find part-time jobs and to access on-demand Pathways to create a CV, prepare for interviews and much more. There are even bespoke Pathways to help international students and students with disabilities and health concerns to navigate the UK job market.

You can also use CareerConnect to book confidential one-to-one appointments with a member of the team, either online or in-person.

Come and Meet Us

You can visit the Careers Desk in the Atrium, First Floor, University Place, Monday-Friday during term-time, where our team can talk things through with you and help with any careers-related queries.

Discover how digital tools and methods can help you explore your subject in exciting new ways.

Understand how digital technology is transforming our world, creating inequality and opportunity.

Develop New Skills

Our course units complement your studies with training in digital methods and a deeper understanding of how digital media and technology are shaping our lives and our future. You will explore how digital methods such as mapping, text mining and data visualization can transform the way you read, understand the past and communicate your ideas. You will create and curate your own digital projects and exhibitions and develop specialist expertise in digital methods relating to your main subject area. Our course units take place in Digital Humanities Labs, where students will also be provided with laptops. Note that no technical experience is required, as all training will be provided.

Participate in the Debates of Tomorrow

Our course units also touch on key concepts and debates around digital media, technology and culture, such as data collection and civil liberties or the ethics of artificial intelligence. Why do search engines misrepresent women and people of colour?

How do digital platforms spread conspiracy theories and 'fake news'?

The Minor will help you understand key debates of our time and equips you with the knowledge you need to make your voice heard.

Find a Job You Love

With its combined focus on technical skills, creativity, and criticism, our course units allow you to develop the skills needed to thrive in workplaces looking for people who can bridge the gap between creative and technical work.

Digital Humanities Certificate

All our courses are available as free choice units. Completing two Digital Humanities course units will earn you a Certificate in Digital Humanities that allows you to document your skills.

Digital Humanities Minor

Students on Single Honours degrees can also choose to take a Minor in Digital Humanities. This is 40 credits a year, equivalent to one-third of your course credits for the year. Many of our course units are also available as free choice units.

Find more information at: <https://digital-humanities.manchester.ac.uk/study/minor-in-digital-humanities/> or contact the programme director.

YOUR STUDENT LIFE

WHERE WILL VOLUNTEERING
TAKE YOU?

Become a Volunthero

Every year thousands of Manchester students get involved in their local, national and international communities through volunteering. They learn new skills, make friends, feel good by helping others and get to explore Manchester. Some also have the chance to explore further afield with Manchester's overseas volunteering programme!

Whatever you study, whatever your interest, there's something for you. The University provide lots of help to get involved, including lists of opportunities with local organisations, support for student projects and one-off taster opportunities to try.

STELLIFY

WOULD YOU LIKE TO BE AN ACADEMIC REP FOR YOUR NEW COURSE?

Are you interested in making change, developing your programme and working with staff to close the feedback loop? Reps are student leaders who gather feedback & work with staff to make positive change in their programme. The role counts towards the STELLIFY award "Step Up and Lead" and you'll gain great experience through attending meetings, gathering feedback from your course mates & working on projects to enact change.

As an academic rep, you represent the students on your course in meetings with staff where you talk about feedback from students – what's going well & what needs to be improved. From this feedback, you work with staff to develop a positive student experience. You'll receive training from the Students' Union, so you don't need any prior experience – just an interest in helping improve student experience for yourself and your peers!

Key skills/experiences you will gain from the Rep role:

Professionalism
Negotiation
Leadership
Communication
Organisational skills

Networking
Problem-solving
Campaigning
Influencing
Working on projects

Sign up to be an Academic Rep by emailing studentreps@manchester.ac.uk and see www.manchesterstudentsunion.com/rep for more details!
