Summary of curriculum structure.

The programme is studied over four years full-time, the third year in an overseas partner institution. Students take course units worth a total of 120 credits per year at Alliance MBS, and a broadly equivalent workload in the overseas partner.

The first year of the programme is a foundation year in which you learn the basic disciplines and try out subjects to assist with optional course choices for the second and final year. In the second year, students studying in the US or Canada, take a core full year (20 credits) course unit that covers the economic, financial and legal systems of North America, and also includes business and labour history; and other management course units to achieve 120 credits. Alternatively students in the second year who are studying in Europe, South East Asia, Australia or New Zealand must take a core 20 credit course unit in International Business and other management course units to achieve 120 credits. The third year is spent abroad at a partner institution. Students will commit 75% of their study to the study of management and business and the remaining 25% may be taken in cultural or language options. Students on this programme are encouraged to study the host country language, where possible. In the final year, students study course units amounting to a total of 120 credits from the Alliance MBS mainstream Management course menu subject to the student having fulfilled the pre-requisite requirements.

Year 1: 120 Credits

The first year is a groundwork year in which you build your foundations of knowledge and capability in the disciplines which underpin management education. These disciplines are internationally recognised and taught in most business schools and so you follow course units in common with students on the BSc Honours degree in Management. You also start your Personal and Career Development Plan (PCDP), designed to help you to assess your own skills, set goals for improvement, record your achievements and reflect on your experiences during your studies. In year 1, this forms part of your summative assessment for BMAN10780 Academic and Career Development. More information is provided about PCDPs via:

<https://www.ambs.ughandbook.manchester.ac.uk/programme/work-placements/personal-and-career-development-plan/>

All courses across the first year are compulsory. Students take a mix of ten and twenty credit compulsory course units across the year amounting to 120 credits.

In semester one and two, the Quantitative Methods seminars are split into two: one for the 'X' group, who have A level Mathematics or equivalent, and one for the 'Y' group who have GCSE Mathematics.

Course outlines for all of your first year course units are available via My Manchester at <https://my.manchester.ac.uk>

The full first year programme structure is available at:

<https://www.ambs.ughandbook.manchester.ac.uk/programme/programme-information/programme-structures/>

Year 2: 120 Credits

Students take International Business (20 credits) or American Society and Economy (20 credits) depending on their country of exchange. Students then choose from a range of courses to make up 120 credits for the year.

ALLIANCE MANCHESTER BUSINESS SCHOOL

Availability of options changes from year to year and pre-requisites/co-requisites apply. Full details are available via My Manchester at <https://my.manchester.ac.uk>

You also continue with your Personal and Career Development Plan.

The full second year programme structure is available at:

Year 3 (Abroad)

By the end of the first two years, you should be fully prepared to embark on your compulsory third year abroad studies at one of our partner institutions. It is important that you achieve good grades during your first two years. In particular, passing the first year is essential and your performance may be taken into account during the allocation process. You should set yourself high standards, achieve them and continue with this approach at your third year abroad institution, where you will be studying business and management at one of the carefully chosen partners.

Information for Year Abroad

Please refer to the workload requirements for your year abroad which can be found at <https://ughandbook.portals.mbs.ac.uk/Myprogramme/OutgoingIMandIMABSexchangeStudents/Meetingsandforms.aspx>

Opportunities to apply for travel awards, scholarships etc may be available from time to time. When available, information will be posted on the online undergraduate handbook and appropriate students will be informed by email.

Please note that you are required to submit a feedback form to the Alliance MBS Undergraduate International Office following your year abroad.

Allocation to places in Partner Institutions

Students will be asked to indicate their preferred institutions by ranking destinations in order of preference. It is important to bear in mind that the number of places is fixed, and since there may be several students who would ideally like to attend the same institution, students should not commit psychologically or otherwise to a specific institution, but should think instead of a range of acceptable destinations. The aim is to place students as high as possible up their personal ranking and to ensure that places are taken up across all our partner institutions. Where a large number of students have chosen the same destination, the written statement and first year performance will be taken into account. Partner institutions have been selected in relation to their academic profile and the education provided. Each institution and location has its own particular characteristics.

The decision of the Programme Director is final.

The selection process above makes clear that students must be flexible about their choice of partner institution. The University of Manchester and Alliance MBS are sympathetic to students with special requirements (e.g. disability, religious belief etc) and will try to ensure that all reasonable requests are taken into account when year abroad places are allocated. We cannot guarantee that special provisions can be made by a partner institution. Students should notify the Programme Director of any special requests as soon as possible. It may not be possible to prioritise students if requests are received late.

Year 4/Final Year: 120 Credits

Students take course units amounting to 120 credits.

Availability of options changes from year to year and pre-requisites/co-requisites apply. Full details are available via My Manchester at <https://my.manchester.ac.uk>

You also continue with your Personal and Career Development Plan.

Students are encouraged to undertake a dissertation on an international topic as this is a good link between your studies abroad and the final year course units. You may undertake a BSc in Management-style dissertation as part of your free choice credits provided you do not also undertake an international dissertation.
