The Green House, 244-254 Cambridge Heath Road,
London E2 9DA

Selection Method

Written CV & cover letter followed by an Interview

Application Criteria

Essential:

- Excellent analytical skills.
- Ability to understand the impact of domestic violence.
- Interest in the work Respect does, Helplines in particular.
- Understanding of the strengths and limitations of quantitative data.
- Ability to formulate different narratives based on the data analysis and identify the most realistic one;
- Good writing skills.
- Willingness to work collaboratively with practitioners

Desirable:

- Experience with SPSS and how to transfer data from one platform to another. Our database is currently on the online website database provision by salesforce.com using a custom-built database we designed. Data can be exported to Excel and then to SPSS.
- Knowledge of the research terrain on domestic and intimate partner violence, particularly the debates about the connection between gender and intimate partner violence, or willingness and ability to understand and work with the complexity

Project Outline

Quantitative and qualitative analysis of the record forms of calls to the Salesforce database; for Respect's two helplines: Respect Phoneline (for male or female perpetrators) and Men's Advice Line (male victims of domestic violence) over the last 12-18 month period.

1. This project would offer the opportunity to present findings to Respect board, who include significant national policy makers such as Police and Crime Commissioner for Northumbria and the Violence Against Women and Girls Commissioner for Brighton Council.
2. It would also offer the opportunity to write up the findings into a briefing paper for possible publication by Respect (naming the placement holder as author or co-author as relevant).
3. There would be the potential to present findings at the next national Respect conference either as a conference keynote or workshop presentation
