

How has COVID-19 affected people with mental illness?

Help us to shape research and improve health outcomes for all

Researchers at the University of Manchester are researching the links between COVID-19 and mental illness. We need members of the public to join an advisory group and help us shape our research.

You could help if you:

- have experience of mental illness
- live in Greater Manchester
- are aged at least 18 years old
- have an interest in health research

Interested?

For further details and/or to apply, contact Lamiece, briefly stating why you are interested in the role and any relevant skills or experience:

lamiece.hassan@manchester.ac.uk

Fees and expenses paid.