A week in the life of our Politics and Italian student, Liam

Hey, my name is Liam and I am in my final year of BA (Hons) Politics and

Italian. I come from Slough but I love living and studying in Manchester - although I spent last year studying abroad in Bologna, Italy. My course is great because I am spread across two different schools within the Faculty of Humanities, so I interact every day with a broad cross-section of the university. I am really excited for my final year, as I will be consolidating my key interests into my dissertation, as well as working in really interesting and unique ways - like writing a mock policy briefing paper as part of the assessment for one politics module. This year I will be using the Careers Service to plan my next steps after graduation and making sure that I make the most of this wonderful city!
