

HospitalityOnCampus – Update on Menus

As you may be aware, we were hoping to have updated menus around Easter as we strive to move on from the offer we put in place when coming back to campus following covid.

Unfortunately as a team, we aren't currently where we need to be to launch a new set of menus and a refreshed offer across the campus. The main reason for this being that our main production kitchen in Fallowfield isn't currently operational and available for the team to use until late summer, due to having to undergo emergency repairs for damage incurred during the covid closure. Once back up and running, we will have a greater scope to broaden the offer across campus, including the launch of new menus.

We will also be working hard over summer to rebuild our team to help support the business ready for the new academic year.

Specific Events / Catering Needs

Whilst we thank you for your understanding over the next few months, should you have any specific events or catering needs coming up that you wish to discuss with us, please don't hesitate to get in touch and the team will only be too happy to see what we will be able to do.
