DEGREE CELEBRATIONS

Classes of 2020 and 2021

Congratulations

from the President and Vice-Chancellor

I am delighted to welcome graduates, family members and friends to The University of Manchester for this degree congregation. This is a time of celebration and a chance to come together to mark the achievements of our graduates. Graduation in any year is a special occasion, and even more so for all of our students who have been impacted so greatly by COVID-19. I hope you all enjoy this special day.

As you, our graduates, take the stage, the University shares with you a great sense of pride in the award you have worked so hard to achieve, during the most difficult of times. This celebration may be delayed, but it is no less meaningful, and I am delighted to welcome you back on campus to mark the occasion as you deserve.

Now is the time to look ahead; I encourage you to take charge of your future, find your voice and form your own opinions. You have faced and overcome challenges not known in our generations, giving you the skills, knowledge and experience to succeed in the face of adversity.

As you celebrate with us today, know that you are ready to take on your next challenge with confidence and share and apply your learnings to make the world a better place for us all.

You are now part of a worldwide network of more than 500,000 alumni – I hope that the links between you and our institution will grow stronger as you become an active member of one of the world's largest alumni communities.

We are immensely proud of our Classes of 2020 and 2021. I wish you every success for the future and hope you have a truly memorable day.

Professor Dame Nancy Rothwell

To our Classes of 2020 and 2021,
a warm congratulations on the conferment of your degree from myself and the whole Faculty.

A message from the Vice-President and Dean of the Faculty of Biology, Medicine and Health

It's a great pleasure to celebrate in person with you, our graduates, and your family, friends and supporters after so long. You have overcome significant challenges to reach this point; your graduation ceremony is all the more special for it.

The past few years have been truly unprecedented and tested us all in many ways, but you have responded with patience, resilience, and support for one another.

Our Faculty has played an important role in responding to the pandemic, from frontline support to laboratory research and discovery. I speak on behalf of all my colleagues when I say that these achievements are a source of genuine pride and a reflection of the talented, caring community to which we all belong.

As we look ahead, we can see that there has never been a greater need for our graduates of Biology, Medicine and Healthcare disciplines. The skills and knowledge that you developed at Manchester and since you graduated are highly sought after by employers who will rely on you to help solve some of the world's greatest challenges. Whatever you go on to do, I am confident that you will continue to achieve great things.

I encourage you to stay in touch through our alumni networks and visit us here in Manchester. Until then, I wish you every success for the future.

Professor Graham Lord

To our Classes of 2020 and 2021,
very warm congratulations from myself and the whole Faculty on the conferment of your degree.

A message from the Vice-President and Dean of the Faculty of Science and Engineering

We have missed honouring our graduates at on-campus graduation events and it is a real pleasure to celebrate with you, your family, friends and supporters today. You have overcome significant challenges to reach this point, and this makes your graduation ceremony even more special.

The pandemic has had significant impacts on our Science and Engineering disciplines, where access to practical laboratory and workshop facilities has long been integral to learning. Your resilience, adaptability, and willingness to engage with new ways of remote learning that Faculty members worked hard to provide is a source of great pride – we thank you for your patience and commitment.

While there have been challenges to overcome, our researchers have been at the forefront of the pandemic response, from developing new hospital equipment and PPE, to mapping the spread of the virus and analysing data. Together with the fight against climate change, there has never been a greater need for our Science and Engineering graduates. The skills and knowledge that you have developed at Manchester are highly sought after by employers, who will rely upon you to work to solve the world's greatest challenges.

My colleagues and I encourage you to stay in touch through our alumni networks and visit us here in Manchester. Many congratulations on completing your studies, and I wish you every success for the future.

Professor Martin Schröder

To our Classes of 2020 and 2021,
congratulations on your degree and all you have achieved while studying with us.

A message from the Vice-President and Dean of the Faculty of Humanities

Extraordinary times produce extraordinary people. Faced with the unparalleled challenges of recent years, you have every right to be proud of your achievement. Today is an opportunity to acknowledge this and to celebrate with your family, friends and supporters.

During these difficult times, we have all learnt new skills, adapted and found strength we were not sure we possessed. Your journey to your graduation ceremony may have felt like a hard climb at times – now you can take in the view and reflect on all you have achieved.

Throughout your time at Manchester and your studies in Humanities, you have honed your ability to think independently and evidence your reasoning; support and inspire others; navigate ethical dilemmas; and challenge prejudice and social injustice.

These skills and knowledge are highly sought after by employers who will rely on you to help solve some of the world's greatest challenges and create a more prosperous, sustainable and equitable future.

Whether you become artists, educators, social scientists, geographers, lawyers or business leaders, I have every faith you will continue to achieve great things and make lasting contributions to the communities and the organisations of which you will be part.

Enjoy the next stage of your journey and stay in touch through our global alumni community. I look forward to hearing about your successes.

Professor Keith Brown

During the course of this event no alarm test or emergency evacuation practice have been planned. Therefore, if the alarm, which is a single-stage alarm, is activated it should be treated as a potential incident requiring evacuation.

Graduands and guests are asked to remain calm and seated and follow the instructions given by stewarding staff.

The assembly point is on the front quadrangle, adjacent to the Whitworth Hall and opposite John Owens Building.
