

Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) Codes and Thresholds from March 2025

The tables on the following pages highlight the most common SOC codes that we use at the University to sponsor an individual for a Skilled Worker visa. The figures in the YELLOW rows against each SOC is the actual minimum salaries for UoM to be eligible, this is because the published going rates are based on a 37.5-hour week.

To be eligible for sponsorship as a Skilled Worker, the role must meet either the 'Going Rate' for the SOC or the 'General Threshold of £38,700' whichever of the two is highest. Where a reduction of the going rate is possible, depending on the role and individuals' personal circumstances, the salary must never drop below £30,960.

The Immigration Salary List (ISL) has replaced the Shortage Occupation List and at this stage the full review hasn't taken place, so there are only a small number of SOC codes on this new list.

We should not be appointing new international candidates at higher points of the salary grades just to enable sponsorship, nor should we increase an existing employee's salary to enable sponsorship; all candidates should be treated equally and fairly and appointment higher in the grade should follow the existing process of having relevant experience. We should not create inequity with local appointments, and it will be a failed recruitment if they do not meet the eligible salary thresholds and do not have the required experience to justify entry higher in the salary band.
