2:00- 09.30		Pharmacy Education Conference
1:00- 09.30		30 June 2025		09.00 - 09:3
	Room: The Drum, University Place Registration and Networking
	Room: Lecture Theatre A, University Place Welcome and introduction			09.30 – 09.4
.30 - 09.40	Harsha Parmar, Chair of Pharmacy Education Conference, University of Manchester
		Keynote: Navigating the Future
.40 - 10:40		Professor Ruth Edwards, Royal Pharmaceutical Societ	hv	09.40 - 10:4
40 - 10:40	Professor Ruth Edwards, Royal Pharmaceutical Society Dr Mathew Smith, Ruth Exelby and Niall Stewart-Kelcher, General Pharmaceutical Council
:45 - 11:15		Break: The Drum, University Place		10:45 - 11:1
	Room: 1.219	Parallel Session 1 - Oral presentations Room: 2.220	Poom: 2 204
	Oral presentations	Oral presentations	Room: 3.204 Oral presentations
	Chair: Sarah Knighton Undergraduate experiential, simulated and	Chair: Diane Mitchell Undergraduate teaching, learning and assessment	Chair: Clare Smith Foundation and post-registration teaching, learning
	Undergraduate experiential, simulated and interprofessional learning	Undergraduate reaching, realiting and assessment	Foundation and post-registration teaching, learning and assessment
F	1.1g	1.2a	1.3a
	Walking in a Patient's Shoes: Evaluation of an	Evaluation of the impact of Making Every Contact	Patient-reported Outcome Measures and Quality of Life:
	Immersive Workshop for Pharmacy Students.	Count (MECC) training on MPharm students at the University of Portsmouth.	Essential tools for person-centred pharmacists	10:0
.20- 12:20	Dipa Patel, Kingston University	Nicola Barnes, University of Portsmouth	Nicola Ward, De Montford University Leicester	11.20- 12:20
F	1.1b	1.2b	1.3b
	Fostering Collaborative Excellence: Pharmacy	Does Practice Make Perfect? Exploring the	How do pharmacy professionals on a national learning
	Students' Perceptions of an Interprofessional Numeracy Workshop.	Correlation Between Exercise Completion and Assessment Success in MyDispense.	pathway, Primary Care Pharmacy Education Pathway (PCPEP) find group tutorial support affected their
	Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast	Matthew Ivory, University of Cardiff	learning and journey on the pathway and practice
-	1.1c	1.2c	Rachel Kenward, CPPE 1.3c
[,	Pharmacy Students involvement in Public Health Outreach Initiatives as part of final year electives for	Useful skills for practice- student pharmacist views on	Development of an eLearning course to support the development of prescribing skills during the
	MPharm to help reduce health inequalities in	a workshop to aid patients swallowing tablets and	development of prescribing skills during the Foundation Training Year
	CORE20Plus demographic in primary care.	capsules. Alice McCloskey, Liverpool John Moores Univresity	Danielle Allen, Queen's University Belfast
	Sarah Baig, University of Birmingham		[
30 - 13:15		Lunch and Networking: The Market, University Place		12.30 - 13:
		time Presentation with SimConverse (optional): Le Parallel Session 2 – Poster Snapshot Presentations	ecture Theatre A, University Place
	Room: 1.219 Poster Snapshot Talks	Room: 2.220 Poster Snapshot Talks	Room: 3.204 Poster Snapshot Talks
	Chair: Mary Rhodes	Chair: Fatima Zulfiqar	Chair: Alison Butt
15 - 14:15	Undergraduate experiential, simulated and interprofessional learning	Undergraduate teaching, learning and assessment	Foundation and post-registration teaching, learning and assessment	13:15 - 14:1
	2.1a	2.2a	2.3a
Α	A novel approach to interprofessional learning between Journalism and Pharmacy students.	Assessment of Professionalism within the MPharm	Pharmacist Academic Trainees – A Future Pathway for Pharmacists?
	Jyoti Buxani, University of Wolverhampton	Programme	Bilkis Islam-Ali, University of Birmingham
	,	Maria Allinson, University of Sheffield
	2.15	0.01-	0.01-
	2.1b A multi-sector Simulated Experiential Pharmacy	2.2b Revolutionizing Pharmacy Education: Establishing	2.3b Exploring the Acceptability and Feasibility of
	Practice Event for 1st Year MPharm students in Northern Ireland.	Specialized Faculties to Shape the Future of Healthcare Leadership	Implementing Junior Pharmacist Guidance and Training for Management of Clinical Interventions.	ı
Í	•	· · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · · ·		ļ
	Niall O'Boyle, Queen's University Belfast	Abdulrahim Abu Jayyab, MCO Institute, United Arab	Johanna Watts, Manchester University NHS Foundation
	Niall O'Boyle, Queen's University Belfast	Abdulrahim Abu Jayyab, MCO Institute, United Arab Emirates	Johanna Watts, Manchester University NHS Foundation Trust
$\frac{1}{2}$	2.1c	Emirates 2.2c	Trust 2.3c
	2.1c	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice
	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the
	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders.	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment.	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and
	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders.	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment.	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the
	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia 2.2d	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d
	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University
	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP)	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia 2.2d Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in
	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective,	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia 2.2d Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University.	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education.
	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective, Natalie Lewis, Aston University 2.1e	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia 2.2d Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University. Dipa Kamdar, Kingston University 2.2e	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education. Aileen McKenna, Queen's University Belfast 2.3e
Ir	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective, Natalie Lewis, Aston University 2.1e Introduction of a novel simulation-based placement to train prescribing skills in final year Master of Pharmacy	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University. Dipa Kamdar, Kingston University 2.2e Using social media to improve calculation competency.	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education. Aileen McKenna, Queen's University Belfast 2.3e Training Experiences of Foundation Year Overseas Qualified Pharmacists and Designated Supervisors in the
Ir	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective, Natalie Lewis, Aston University 2.1e Introduction of a novel simulation-based placement to train prescribing skills in final year Master of Pharmacy (MPharm) undergraduate students.	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University. Dipa Kamdar, Kingston University 2.2e Using social media to improve calculation competency.	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education. Aileen McKenna, Queen's University Belfast 2.3e Training Experiences of Foundation Year Overseas Qualified Pharmacists and Designated Supervisors in the South West of the United Kingdom: A Service Evaluation.
Ir	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective, Natalie Lewis, Aston University 2.1e Introduction of a novel simulation-based placement to train prescribing skills in final year Master of Pharmacy	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University. Dipa Kamdar, Kingston University 2.2e Using social media to improve calculation competency.	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education. Aileen McKenna, Queen's University Belfast 2.3e Training Experiences of Foundation Year Overseas Qualified Pharmacists and Designated Supervisors in the
Ir	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective, Natalie Lewis, Aston University 2.1e Introduction of a novel simulation-based placement to train prescribing skills in final year Master of Pharmacy (MPharm) undergraduate students. Jonathan Davies, Liverpool John Moores University	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia 2.2d Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University. Dipa Kamdar, Kingston University 2.2e Using social media to improve calculation competency. Danielle Allen, Queen's University Belfast	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education. Aileen McKenna, Queen's University Belfast 2.3e Training Experiences of Foundation Year Overseas Qualified Pharmacists and Designated Supervisors in the South West of the United Kingdom: A Service Evaluation. Adelle Wheatley, Pharmacy Workforce Development South, Bristol
lr 1	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective, Natalie Lewis, Aston University 2.1e Introduction of a novel simulation-based placement to train prescribing skills in final year Master of Pharmacy (MPharm) undergraduate students. Jonathan Davies, Liverpool John Moores University 2.1f Exploration of Final Year MPharm Students' confidence	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University. Dipa Kamdar, Kingston University 2.2e Using social media to improve calculation competency. Danielle Allen, Queen's University Belfast 2.2f Making Pharmacy Education "ACE"! Integration of	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education. Aileen McKenna, Queen's University Belfast 2.3e Training Experiences of Foundation Year Overseas Qualified Pharmacists and Designated Supervisors in the South West of the United Kingdom: A Service Evaluation. Adelle Wheatley, Pharmacy Workforce Development South, Bristol 2.3f Developing pharmacist personas to support learning to
lr 1	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective, Natalie Lewis, Aston University 2.1e Introduction of a novel simulation-based placement to train prescribing skills in final year Master of Pharmacy (MPharm) undergraduate students. Jonathan Davies, Liverpool John Moores University 2.1f	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University. Dipa Kamdar, Kingston University 2.2e Using social media to improve calculation competency. Danielle Allen, Queen's University Belfast 2.2f Making Pharmacy Education "ACE"! Integration of Associate Clinical Educators into MPharm Curriculum.	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education. Aileen McKenna, Queen's University Belfast 2.3e Training Experiences of Foundation Year Overseas Qualified Pharmacists and Designated Supervisors in the South West of the United Kingdom: A Service Evaluation. Adelle Wheatley, Pharmacy Workforce Development South, Bristol Developing pharmacist personas to support learning to enable career development.
lr 1	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective, Natalie Lewis, Aston University 2.1e Introduction of a novel simulation-based placement to train prescribing skills in final year Master of Pharmacy (MPharm) undergraduate students. Jonathan Davies, Liverpool John Moores University 2.1f Exploration of Final Year MPharm Students' confidence levels when undertaking Entrustable Professional	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University. Dipa Kamdar, Kingston University 2.2e Using social media to improve calculation competency. Danielle Allen, Queen's University Belfast 2.2f Making Pharmacy Education "ACE"! Integration of	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education. Aileen McKenna, Queen's University Belfast 2.3e Training Experiences of Foundation Year Overseas Qualified Pharmacists and Designated Supervisors in the South West of the United Kingdom: A Service Evaluation. Adelle Wheatley, Pharmacy Workforce Development South, Bristol 2.3f Developing pharmacist personas to support learning to
lr 1	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective, Natalie Lewis, Aston University 2.1e Introduction of a novel simulation-based placement to train prescribing skills in final year Master of Pharmacy (MPharm) undergraduate students. Jonathan Davies, Liverpool John Moores University 2.1f Exploration of Final Year MPharm Students' confidence levels when undertaking Entrustable Professional Activities on 5-week Placements.	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University. Dipa Kamdar, Kingston University 2.2e Using social media to improve calculation competency. Danielle Allen, Queen's University Belfast 2.2f Making Pharmacy Education "ACE"! Integration of Associate Clinical Educators into MPharm Curriculum.	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education. Aileen McKenna, Queen's University Belfast 2.3e Training Experiences of Foundation Year Overseas Qualified Pharmacists and Designated Supervisors in the South West of the United Kingdom: A Service Evaluation. Adelle Wheatley, Pharmacy Workforce Development South, Bristol Developing pharmacist personas to support learning to enable career development.
lr 1	2.1c AIPEC 2024: Empowering Collaborative Healthcare Education Across Borders. Paul McCague, Queen's University Belfast 2.1d Evaluation of Peer Enhanced E-Placement (PEEP) delivery of the Aston MPharm Palliative Care Elective, Natalie Lewis, Aston University 2.1e Introduction of a novel simulation-based placement to train prescribing skills in final year Master of Pharmacy (MPharm) undergraduate students. Jonathan Davies, Liverpool John Moores University 2.1f Exploration of Final Year MPharm Students' confidence levels when undertaking Entrustable Professional Activities on 5-week Placements. Heenal Malde, Kings College London 2.1g	Emirates 2.2c Using viva voce as an individual assessment component within a group work assignment. Jeremy Sokhi, University of East Anglia 2.2d Student perspectives on racial and religious inclusivity in pharmacy education at Kingston University. Dipa Kamdar, Kingston University 2.2e Using social media to improve calculation competency. Danielle Allen, Queen's University Belfast 2.2f Making Pharmacy Education "ACE"! Integration of Associate Clinical Educators into MPharm Curriculum. Bilkis Islam-Ali, University of Birmingham	Trust 2.3c The impact of professional education and training strategies, and other enablers, on the scope of practice of pharmacy technicians, dental technicians, and dispensing opticians in GB/UK: a scoping review of the literature. Rebecca Chamberlain, Cardiff Metropolitan University 2.3d The use of interactive fiction in learning from failure in postgraduate pharmacy education. Aileen McKenna, Queen's University Belfast 2.3e Training Experiences of Foundation Year Overseas Qualified Pharmacists and Designated Supervisors in the South West of the United Kingdom: A Service Evaluation. Adelle Wheatley, Pharmacy Workforce Development South, Bristol 2.3f Developing pharmacist personas to support learning to enable career development. Imedia McDermott, University of Manchester

			Patricia Achi, University of Bradford
	2.1h	2.2h	2.3h
	Simulation as integration.	An investigation into the factors affecting student	Exploring the role of the Educational Supervisor in
	Sallianne Kavanagh, University of Huddersfield	progression on a pharmacy programme.	Pharmacist Professional Development within General Practice (NI).
	Salilarine Ravariagn, onliversity of Hoadersheld	Ryan Jones, Liverpool John Moores University	ridelice (N).
		,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,,	Anna Fay, Northern Ireland Centre for Pharmacy
			Learning and Development (NICPLD), Belfast, United Kingdom
			Kingdom
	2.1i	2.2i	2.3i
	Evaluation of weeklong 4th year MPharm Placements.	Book Smart vs. Digital Savvy: The BNF Battle for	Learnings from the collaborative RPS/CPPE supported e-
	Kate Oates, Manchester University NHS Foundation Trust	MPharm Students	Portfolio programme for advanced pharmacist practice in England.
	Rate Gales, Marieriesier Griversity (Vris Tooridation 1103)	Mary-Carmel Kearney, Queen's University Belfast	iii England.
			Lisa Drinkwater, CPPE
	2.1;	2.2	2.2;
	2.1j MPharm 4 Students' perceptions of prescribing and	2.2j Experiential Learning Placements in the Care Home:	2.3j A Multidisciplinary Approach: Transforming Community
	the support they need in their foundation training	Student perspectives on the value of the experience	Pharmacists Prescribing Service Training in Wales.
	year.	Motth and David University of Nottings and	Cara Vierana David Dharraga a cutia al Caniatu
	Varsha Paheerathan, Kings College London	Matthew Boyd, University of Nottingham	Sara Visram, Royal Pharmaceutical Society
	2.1k	2.2k	2.3k
	Design and Evaluate the Digital Integration of SystmOne in Simulation-Based Teaching for MPharm Students at	Concept Mapping as a Strategy to Promote Meaningful Learning in MPharm Students.	Teach and Treat Model in Sussex ICS.
	Kingston University.	Modring of Eduling III Will Hall 1 ordarins.	Alice Comment All IC Commentate and Decomb
		Clare Murray, Queen's University Belfast	Alice Conway, NHS Sussex Integrated Board
	Leanne May, Kingston University
14:15 - 14:30		Break: The Drum, University Place, University Place		14:15- 14:30
14.13 - 14.30	Parallel Session 3 - Workshops
	Room: 1.219	Room: 2.220	Room: 3.204
	Workshop	Workshop	Workshop
14.30-15.30	Chair: Lisa Drinkwater	Chair: Victoria Tavares	Chair: Ellen Schafheutle
. 4.00 10.00	3.1 Al in Pharmacy Education	3.2 Current issues in Pharmacy Simulation	3.3 Diversifying Leadership	14.30-15.30
	Matthew Stibbs (University of Birmingham, Chris Spence	Ruth Edwards and Obaida Ahmed (University of (Queen's University Belfast), Fiona Smith (Teeside	Wolverhampton) and Bob Spour (Founder and Training	Jackie Carter and Rachel Lindley (University of
	University) and Amber Tidmarsh (Keele University),	Director of Meducate Academy Ltd)	Manchester)
		Poom: Locture Thorate A. University Place
	Room: Lecture Theatre A, University Place
	Closing Plenary
15:30 - 16:30	Differential Attainment: Dr Adam Vasco, Director of Diversity and Inclusion in Professional Practice University of Wolverhampton

Room 3.209: Multi faith prayer room Room 3.210: Parenting room Room 2.217: Cloakroom