

Summary of OFS Sexual Misconduct National Prevalence Data and University of Manchester Prevalence Data September 2025

The results presented in this summary report are based on responses from final year undergraduates at The University of Manchester in 2025. The Office for Students suggest care should be taken in making comparisons of institution level data with the sector level outputs. Several limitations have been raised, limiting the statistical analysis that can be performed. Data are compared to the Office for Students findings for illustrative purposes only. It is not possible to determine if there are any statistically significant differences.
