

Welcome to LinkedIn Learning

MAP Students can access LinkedIn Learning for free until June 2026, where you can take online courses that will support your personal development, build skills to help your current and future studies, and even your future career!

Please note that you will need the MAP Team to grant you access to LinkedIn Learning, so please email us at map@manchester.ac.uk if you did not sign up for LinkedIn Learning access when you completed your MAP Registration Form.

What is LinkedIn Learning for MAP students?

LinkedIn Learning is an online platform where you can explore thousands of short video courses taught by experts. You'll find topics like study skills, presentation skills, digital tools (like Excel and Photoshop), communication, time management, and more!

You can watch bite-sized or full courses anytime and anywhere, making it easy to learn new skills or explore new subjects outside of the classroom.

Please read the information on this page carefully, including the MAP LinkedIn Learning Guidelines and the MAP LinkedIn Learning FAQs page.

MAP LinkedIn Learning Guidance

Please read these important MAP LinkedIn Learning Guidelines. This document contains support for how to:

1. Access LinkedIn Learning
2. Become familiar with LinkedIn Learning key features
3. Create, use, and review LinkedIn Learning pathways
4. Connect your LinkedIn Learning account with your LinkedIn profile (optional)

Please click here to access our LinkedIn Learning FAQs page, with lots more information about getting started, how to personalise your learning experience and your privacy and data sharing.

This LinkedIn Learning guidance webpage provides further guidance. Please note that not everything will be relevant (e.g. how to log in) as it is designed for current students at UoM.

Getting Started

This LinkedIn Learning course might be a good first step to familiarising yourself with the platform!
